"The hoop skirt is surely coming",
says a fashion note, but we refuse to worry until knee breeches and gold garment buckles are worn by men.

Some who have seen both pictures,
say the "Battle Cry of Peace" is as good as the Birth of a Nation. See it at the Opera House next Monday afternoon and night.

One span of the Tennessee river
bridge on the Queen & Crescent route was wrecked last Friday night when a freight car jumped the track and seventeen cars fell into the river. All the trainmen escaped injury. Traffic is being detoured via Knoxville. It will be some time before the bridge can be rebuilt.

Secrecy will be maintained by the general staff as to the movements of troops in pursuit of Villa. General Funston, who has shown that he is aware of the necessity for concealing
such military information, is expected to maintain a rigid censorship when the punitive expedition enters upon its real campaign.

Every since the momentous August of 1914—especially during the past six months—the skyrocketing of the prices
of necessities around a newspaper plant
has gone with a beauty of consistency
which arouses absolutely no enthusiasm
among publishers thruout the country who have to foot the bills. Products essential to the publication of newspapers have jumped in price all the way from 10 or 15 to 3,000 or more per cent.

When President Wilson ordered the United States army to cross the Mexican border and avenge the death of American citizens the nation almost to a man spontaneously arose and put its entire strength and hearty support squarely behind the president. There was not a word of objection heard on any side. The patience of the American people had been sorely tested until it could resist no longer. "Villa dead or Villa alive"—that was the motto of the troops who had long been on the border.

THE STORK AGAIN

Mr. Harry Elmore is the happy father of a handsome baby boy which arrived at his home last Saturday morning.

PROLIFIC SOW

Mr. W. B. Denny is the owner of the
Ky. Red Berkshire sow, "Anna Bell", that has produced four litters of pigs
or fifty five pigs in all, an average of about fourteen to the litter. Mr. Denny says she is worth her weight in gold.

SPEAKING OF BULLS.

One of the largest bulls we have seen around in these "diggins" for some time, in fact about the largest
one we have seen anywhere, was purchased by W. H. Brown of J. T. Anderson last Friday that tipped the beam at 2160 pounds. The animal was shipped to the Cincinnati market for slaughter and the person that call for a steak from him will be handed
"some bull."

"BATTLE CRY OF PEACE"

We announced through error last week that the Opera House would show
The Battle Cry of Peace at 9 A. M. on the morning of the 27th of March, and now desire to correct it. Only two shows, the first one begins at 1 P. M.
and the second show begins promptly
at 7:30 P. M. This will be County Court Day and a large crowd will see this great picture. It consists of nine reels and it takes two hours and fifteen minutes to see it. Seats now on sale
for the night show at McRoberts Drug Store.

MORE SHEEP KILLED.

Worthless dogs are playing havoc with the sheep over the county and many valuable animals have been lost in the past few weeks. Mr. J. B.
Bourne had his flock invaded last Friday night and four of his finest ewes were killed. It means quite a loss to the farmer at this time, just when the ewes are lambing and the prospect of high prices for wool and lambs for spring delivery makes the loss doubly severe. Get out your old shot gun farmers and kill every dog seen on your place unless accompanied by the owner

ASSIGNS TO CREDITORS.

Mr. Harry Ware, proprietor of the "Gem" made an assignment to H.
Clay Kauffman last Monday for the benefit of his creditors, with liabilities
at about $500 and assets at about one half this amount. Harry has made many friends here who will regret to learn of his financial reverses.

SHIPS FINE YOUNG STALLION

Mr. A. D. Bradshaw has recently shipped his young stallion, Star Chester, No. 6470 A. S. H. B. A. to Mr. P.
W. Ray who will handle him throughout the fair circuit this season. This horse will be heard from in the three year old harness and saddle classes and from his breeding should be a topnotcher. He is by Bourbon Star and out of an in-bred Chester Dare mare, tracing to Chester Dare 10, three time direct. He is a beautiful black with plenty of style and conformation.

DIDN'T MAKE GOOD.

The editor of a country paper in Texas announced one week that he was going to print in his next issue the name
and picture of the most gossipy, longtongued woman in the town. But the editor did not make good his promise;
within an hour after the papers were mailed all the doctors in the community were battling frantically with twenty seven cases of nervous prostrations,
while twenty-seven different husbands,
armed with shotguns, were lined up
outside the door of the editors office.

HEMP SEED FROM CHINA.

Mr. Dave Dudderar, a well known farmer of this county, has received notice of the shipment to him of two pounds of cultivated hemp seed grown
in North China, near Tienstin, China,
perhaps the oldest civilized country in the world, has produced for hundreds of years, a small quantity of fine hemp not unlike that grown here. It will be interesting to watch the growing of hemp from this sample of seed sent from the old to the new world. The seed will be on exhibition at the office
of the local hemp dealers, Hudson, Hughes and Farnau.

TOBACCO SEED PROFITABLE

The reputation that B. F. Kelly and Son have made in the past few years
with their improved Burley tobacco has been wonderful and deservedly so for they have produced great results. In asking that their advertisement be lifted, that has been running in the Record for several weeks, they gave as a reason that it had sold about $1,200
worth of seed and their supply was now exhausted. They have shipped this seed to nearly every state in the Union
where tobacco can be raised, its retail price being $1. an ounce, which means a total of 1200 ounces sold during the season.

TRANSYLVANIA GLEE CLUB.

Under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor society, the Transylvania
Glee Club will return to Lancaster
Thursday evening March 30th., appearing for one night only at the school Auditorium. There are twenty members of this popular club and a good crowd should greet them as the prices
of seats are reduced from the price
that prevailed when they were much enjoyed on their previous trip here one year ago. Reserved seats are on sale at McRoberts drug store at 35 cents.
General admission will be 25 cents for adults, children under twelve years, 15 cents. Entire program will be given in next weeks issue.

C. E. CONVENTION.

The Eight district convention of the Christian Endeavor will convene at Stanford, March 25th and 26th. An interesting program has been arranged by Miss Della Holiday, of Berea, who is the president of the district. Among the speakers will be Rev. Homer Carpenter, state president and Rev. F.
M. Tindler of this city. A debate of unusual interest will be on the program
for Saturday afternoon, between Har-rodsburg and Lancaster, the subject to be discussed being, "Resolved that a Junior Superintendent must possess
more ability than the President of a Senior society". Lancaster will take the negative side and will be represented
by Mr. William Miller and Mr. Will Rice Amon.

The meeting will close Sunday night
with a "Missionary Pageant".

MILLINERY OPENINGS.

"Milady" was hard to please if she did not see a Spring hat she wanted at either Mrs. Rella Francis, Miss Minnie Browns or Lyons last Saturday. The assortment and styles of hats in each place were very attractive, from the little girls hats in dainty colors to the hats for adults. Flowers, fruit and bright ribbons galore made these shops look like veritable flower gardens.

In years gone by it was hard to get childrens hats, this is not the case now,
neither is it hard for elderly ladies to be suited, so great is the assortment of trimmed hats.

The millinery stores of Lancaster
were thronged with interested buyers
and spectators last Saturday from early morn until late at night and all pronounced the hats "creations" and things of beauty.

HANDSOME DISPLAYS

Lancaster Stores Have Most Attractive Line Of Spring Goods Ever Shown Here.

It is generally conceded that a handsomer or more complete line of Spring
Goods was never shown in Central Kentucky, the dry goods, merchants,
the gents furnishing stores and the millinery stores, of Lancaster, cap the climax in having just what you want and at prices lower than you can get elsewhere. The local merchants have taken great pains in making selections,
realizing the fact that their customers
want something good at a reasonable price.

A visit to the stores will quickly convince you that you can save money by buying at home. Under these conditions, why make an expensive trip to other cities where you can get no better goods and will have to pay even more money than your gifts will cost at home. In former years, many hundreds of dollars have been sent away when it should have been spent at home. So take a look at the ads in this issue before prancing off to another town to get
separated from your hard earned money

SUNDAY BIG DAY AT

CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

Mens Day A Success In Every Way.

Last Sunday was one of the greatest days the Christian church has ever experienced in the way of spiritual uplift
and real christian enjoyment.

The day was called "Men's Day",
the men having charge of morning, afternoon and evening services. The meeting was gotten up, primarily, for the benefit of Prof. Caner's Bible class of men, although it will redound
to great good for the whole church.
This class is making an effort to have a larger class and church attendance from the older men of the town. Some of the leading spirits in the class, feeling
they would draw strength and inspiration from coming in contact with leaders in the Bible Schools of other towns,
invited representatives from Danville,
Richmond and Winchester to "come over into Macedonia" and help us and tell us how they secured and kept up attendance. Although all the talks were made by laymen they seemed "to the manor born" in the pulpit, so earnest
and inspiring were their talks.

Prof. McDougle and R. E. Turley of Richmond, Prof. Fallis of Danville, Messrs Pendleton and Pruitt of Winchester, all told of the work and methods pursued in their churches as to disseminating light and christian love
and the plans pursued in getting new scholars and retaining them.

One feature of the day was the "Mens Choir," the entire choir being composed of men who, at least, made a joyful noise while many pronounced it excellent music. The solo by Mr. Charlie Dent was greatly enjoyed. The afternoon service, "for men only" was helpful and enjoyed by all who attended.
Altogether it was a gala day and one long to be remembered in the Christian church.

The following were here from Danville: Geo. L. Walden, J. A. Robinson, James Baughman, Prof. O. L. Fallis
and Percy Johnson; from Richmond: J.
C. Bowman, R. E. Turley, Prof. Mc-Dougle, Elma Detherage, John Arnold
and Z. T. Rice, from Winchester,
Messrs Pendleton, Pruitt and Geo. B.
Nelson; from Stanford, Rev. D. M.
Walker, K. J. Francis, J. S. Hocker,
J. B. Foster and Dr. W. B. O'Bannon.

TO THE DEMOCRATS

OF GARRARD COUNTY.

I wish to announce that I would like to have the office of County Court Clerk
for this county, and will be a candidate for the nomination at the August Primary 1917, subject to the action of the democratic party. I am not advised as to the necessary steps required by law to fill the vacancy now existing in this office at the August Primary and November election this fall.

But feeling as all good democrats should feel, that the faithful and loyal democracy and the excellent service of our lamented friend, Hon. J. W. Hamilton should be recognized by giving to his widow and family the opportunity to complete the term of office to which he was elected by the people. I will therefore, not interfere with their plans, but wish to pledge the family
my aid and help to this end.

My democracy and service to our party in the past is too well known to necessitate any discussion at this time.
Just what the party has done for me
and what service I have rendered is generally known. I hope that the official positions with which I have been honored by you and the services I have rendered in this connection has been such as to commend me to the consideration of my fellow democrats and the people generally. If I should be successful in my ambition I promise an industrious performance of the duties of the office I seek. If my fellow democrats do not think I should have this preference, or that there is another more meritorious, I shall be found in the future as in the past at my post of duty serving my party wherever and whenever in my power.

Two Kisses

By DONALD CHAMBERLIN

During the stay of the American troops in Cuba when the throwing off of Spanish rule was being brought about by Captain Edward Mansfield of the staff was sent out, supported by a reconnoitering party, to sweep around Santiago for information. Coming to a hacienda, the captain, leaving his men at the gateway, rode up to the house. He was admitted by a negro woman, who announced that there was no one at home except Senorita Sierra, the daughter of the owner. Whereupon Mansfield asked if he might have a few minutes' conversation with the young lady.

The senorita was of a different type from the usual Spanish girl, who is small of stature and delicately made. She was rather above the middle height for a woman and of dignified demeanor. Having entered the room where the captain was waiting for her, she stood without speaking till he should make known his desires.

What Mansfield had called at the house for was information. He asked if the family sided with Spain or Cuba and learned that their hearts were with Cuba. But as to information, the young lady had none to give. Nevertheless the visitor kept her talking. He was a male flirt and had made many a conquest. Daring was a method he often employed with women, and he resolved upon this course in the present case. After engaging the senorita in conversation for some time, during which he showed admiration for her, he rose to take his leave. He offered her his hand, and when she gave him hers he drew her toward him, and before she could draw back he had kissed her on the cheek.

That he had made a mistake was instantly apparent. The senorita's eyes flashed, and her face flushed scarlet. With an expression of contempt she turned, left the room, and Mansfield saw her no more.

When the fighting was over, before returning to the United States, Mansfield mounted his horse and rode to the hacienda to offer an apology for what he had done. The same negro woman who had admitted him before opened the door. Mansfield asked her to inform her mistress that he would consider it a boon if she would give him a few moments in which to apologize for what he had done on a previous visit.

Written word was returned that an apology would not be accepted. The lady demanded satisfaction on behalf of one who would act as her champion. Captain Mansfield would receive a communication at a hotel a short distance down the road.

The officer left the house in a quandary. Should he meet some one in mortal combat for a snatched kiss for which he had offered to apologize, or should he end the affair by sailing for home without paying any further attention to it? He would have chosen the latter course had it not been for the contemptuous treatment he had received from the senorita. He could not bring himself to incur the further imputation.

He rode to the hotel named and, taking a seat on the veranda, lit a cigar. Half an hour passed, and he was about to ride back to camp when a negro boy approached, holding in his hand a letter. Seeing Mansfield, he handed it to him. The captain opened it and read:

To the American Officer.—This evening at 6 o'clock I will take satisfaction for the insult offered my sister. Be at the northeast corner of the Sierra hacienda.

JOSE SIERRA.

Mansfield was puzzled as to the handwriting. The letters were large and bold, but it looked as if the writer had disguised his hand. The captain could not but smile at a challenge to mortal combat sent by a negro boy, addressed to "the American officer" and signed by a man he had never seen. If Jose Sierra had no friend to bear his challenge why did he not come himself? Evidently the senorita was put to it to secure her revenge. Possibly the brother was not at hand, and the sister had written the challenge in his behalf. Indeed, despite the large letters there was more that was feminine than masculine in the writing.

At 6 o'clock Mansfield returned to the hacienda, located the northeast corner and, climbing the fence, advanced till he came to a grove in the center of which was an open space. There he stood for a few minutes, when he saw a figure advancing. Though the costume was that of a man, the gait was unmistakably that of a woman. Mansfield, pretending to be deceived, said:

"Senor, your resemblance to your sister is remarkable."

"We are twins, sir."

"I presume we are to fight without seconds?"

"Are they necessary?"

"Before we begin I desire to offer through you to your sister the apology she would not receive. I was tempted beyond my strength from beholding the most beautiful, the most engaging woman I have ever seen. After I have killed you I shall renew my suit, restraining myself so that my intentions shall not be mistaken."

Senorita Sierra—for it was she—had a sword in her hand, which at his words she let fall to the ground. Mansfield advanced, took her hand, drew her gently to him and without resistance kissed her on the lips.

An Unfortunate Blunder

By F. A. MITCHEL

When the world war broke out there were the usual quantum of American summer tourists in Europe.

Frederick Jackson was one of these Americans near the seat of war, being at Thun, Switzerland. He made a bolt to get through France to the sea, so that he might embark for home. He was unable to register his trunk any further than Berne and on arriving at that city began a hunt for it. Approaching a pile of baggage, he saw his trunk—at any rate, it had his initials on it—and was about to claim it when a lady exclaimed:

"There it is! Bring it along quickly. I shall be left."

She pointed to Jackson's trunk, a porter shouldered it and was about to carry it away when Jackson interfered.

"Beg pardon, madam. Are you sure that is your trunk?"

"Certainly. Don't you see my initials on it—F. E. J.?"

"Those are my initials, and I am quite sure that is my trunk."

"Go on, porter," said the lady, and off they went, leaving Mr. Jackson gaping after them. He was about to follow them to regain his trunk when an official pointed to another trunk with the same initials on it and asked if it were not his. Jackson was puzzled. No matter how familiar one is with his trunk he cannot be certain unless there is some familiar mark on it. However, it was evident that there were two trunks with the same initials on them, and Jackson argued that this one was either his or hers. So he claimed it and directed a porter to shoulder it and go for the train.

The episode occurred on Aug. 2, 1914. A week later Jackson crossed the English channel, the vessel having darkened lights to escape German warcraft, and landed safely in England. There he waited two weeks for a passage to New York.

When the ship was well out to sea Jackson one morning left his state-room somewhat peculiarly attired. He had on a ruffled collar, and his necktie was a broad blue ribbon. In the cabin he met a lady in a pair of masculine spats—much too large for her—a man's choker and a blue speckled cravat ornamented with a mosaic pin resembling one Jackson had bought in Rome. The man and the woman stopped and looked at each other with marked interest.

Jackson raised his cap politely. "I believe, sir," said the lady, "that you are the man who claimed a trunk at Berne which I believed to be mine."

"I am."

"Well, the trunk turned out not to be mine."

"I captured a trunk with my initials on it and held on to it."

"Heavens be praised; it must be mine."

"That scarf you are wearing matches one I own, and the pin is exactly like one I brought from Italy."

"Quite likely. I have been obliged to use some of the articles I found in your trunk. I fancy that ruffled collar you wear is mine, and the ribbon" (she tried to repress a smile) "is the exact color of one I got in Lucerne. I assure you I am very tired trying to make out with a man's neckwear. Look at these enormous spats!"

"I assure you I have found a woman's robe de nuit altogether too cramped. Besides, the workmanship in it scratches me."

"You are very bold!"

"I will apologize if you will assure me that you have not used my own for a similar purpose."

The lady colored, but made no reply.

"I will have a porter carry the trunk to your stateroom and get mine. I will reserve such articles of clothing as I have been obliged to use to be laundered."

The lady looked uncomfortable.

"Will that suit you, madam?" he asked.

"But what shall I do in the meantime for—?"

"Can't we get the pieces laundered immediately?"

A stewardess was passing. The lady called her and put the laundry question. She was told that to get clothes laundered aboard would be next to impossible and if possible would cost a large sum. A few pieces only would cost a guinea.

"Rather than pay that," said Jackson, with a twinkle in his eye, "I will sleep in embroidery and lace all the voyage."

"But I will not sleep—I mean you shall not sleep in"—She was stalled.

"Then we must change trunks with the articles as they are," said Jackson.

"That's very mean of you."

"I don't see how you can call me mean. At Berne I was about to have my trunk carried to the train when you interposed and had it carried off as yours. Since then I have had to depend upon garments to which I have been entirely unused."

This ended the interview. The lady turned and beat a retreat. Jackson paid an enormous sum to have the articles he had used laundered and sent the trunk with everything in it to the lady's stateroom. He did not receive his own until the end of the journey.

A year from that date when these two were about to start on a wedding tour the groom to be sent some of his clothes to his fiancée to pack in his trunk on the ground that he hadn't room for them. She sent them back in a huff.

He laughed.

The Supremacy of Peruna as a Household Remedy

44 Years of Leadership

Returned to His Work.
Mr. Henry Gondeau, Fayetteville, La., suffered with catarrh of the stomach. He did not know what his trouble was. He was unable to work. Could hardly eat anything. After taking Peruna a short time he is now in perfect health. He says: "I am now doing all my work. I am confident that any one suffering as I was could be cured by Peruna."

Every Change of Weather.
Mr. E. Arnold, Westley, R. I., contracted a severe cold. The cold settled in his side and produced a condition that was thought to be pleurisy. Every change of weather would bring a return of his trouble. After taking Peruna all his ailments have vanished.

Pain in the Stomach.
Mr. Henry Kneek, Box 805, 1118 E. Vista Ave., Lancaster, Pa., writes: "I wrote you about four weeks ago that I had a pain in my stomach. I followed your advice, and used three bottles of your Peruna, and I am all right now. I am very thankful for your advice and your medicine."

Three substantial men, heads of families, made efficient once more by Peruna. Three housewives restored to their families. These are only samples of what Peruna is doing every day, everywhere. Surely, this is a splendid work. Anything that conserves family life and makes the home more desirable and comfortable, nourishes the heart root of civilization. Peruna is a great civilizer.

Mogul 8-16 Saves Its Own Price In Fuel Bill Reduction

THAT'S true. A Mogul 8-16 kerosene tractor saves its own price in fuel bill saving, as compared with a gasoline tractor.

Until April 1st the price remains at $675 cash f. o. b. Chicago. Fortunate early purchases of material still allow you this low figure. After April 1st the price will be $725, same terms.

At either price the Mogul 8-16 is by far the most economical tractor because it operates on cheap, common kerosene or coal oil. Gasoline to run the gasoline tractor costs over 100 per cent more than the kerosene a Mogul 8-16 will use. Which is best for you?

You know what gasoline costs you, and you know what you pay for kerosene. Figure it out yourself, or see your dealer. This is a saving you can't afford to miss.

NO LOOKING BACK IN LANCASTER

New Evidence Constantly Being Published.

Since the long succession of Lancaster reports were first published in the local press there has been no looking back. Lancaster evidence continues to pour in, and—better still—those whose reports were first published many years ago, verify all they said in a most hearty and unmistakable way. Read the experience of Mrs. C. T. Brummett, Crab Orchard, St., she says:

"My kidneys were out of order and I had pains through my back and kidneys. At times I was nervous. Doan's Kidney Pills made me feel much better and stronger in every way."

ON A LATER OCCASION, Mrs. Brummett said: "I cannot say too much in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills as a kidney and bladder medicine, for two boxes have cured me of that trouble."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Brummett has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. 3-23-2t.

DON'T GO TO BED WITH COLD FEET

Says: "Often Brings On Attacks Of Acute Rheumatism."

An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, and people who are subject to attacks of rheumatism should never go to bed with cold feet.

A whole lot is being said about taking salts and effervescent tablets for rheumatism and sciatica, but those who suffer sharp twinges and painful swollen joints need something powerful to overcome their piteous suffering.

Any broad-minded druggist will tell you that one-half teaspoonful of Rheuma taken once a day is driving more rheumatism out of afflicted people than all the salts on earth. Right in this neighborhood R. E. McRoberts and all druggists sell large quantities of it, and it's the surest and most inexpensive remedy—about 50 a bottle. 3-23-2t

Rev. Morgan of Clay county was the week-end guest of his brother-in-law, Mr. Hugh Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Conn and children spent last Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Conn at Lancaster.

Rev. Morgan of Clay county has recently visited his aged aunt, Mrs. Adren Metcalf, and during his visit he held a cottage meeting at her home. Several of her friends and neighbors came in to hear him. Every one enjoyed his splendid sermon and wish to hear him again.

ALL FASCINATED BY WOMAN'S HAIR.

Nearly every woman who has an ordinary head of hair can by giving it just a little attention have luxuriant hair, soft, fluffy and radiantly beautiful.

It's a good thing to know this because hair preparations that put life and lustre into dull looking hair are scarce, but it is a fact known to nearly every druggist in America that Parisian Sage, a delightfully clean and refreshing tonic not only will make your hair look 100 per cent better but will quickly stop it from falling, rid it of dandruff and scalp itch.

It's well worth a trial and R. E. McRoberts who disposes of a great quantity of it will tell you so, and will refund your money if it isn't all you expect. 3-23-2t

DEATH ANGEL CALLS BELOVED WOMAN.

PAINT LICK, KY.

Mrs. Elizabeth Woods Walker died at her home near here Monday morning at one thirty after a brief illness from apoplexy. From the first it was evident that her condition was critical and all that medical skill and loving hands could do was of no avail. She was the daughter of Martha Givens and Rice Garland Woods and was in her 71st year. Always an active, home loving woman, a constant, earnest life-long member of old Paint Lick Presbyterian church. The summons came after a morning spent at the preparatory services for communion.

She is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Luther Gibbs, Misses Mary, Jane and Mattie Walker and one son, Woods Walker, and one sister, Mrs. J. C. Hays of Stanford, who with a wide circle of friends and relatives mourn her loss. Funeral services were conducted Tuesday morning at the Presbyterian church by Rev. W. M. Eldridge and the body was laid to rest in Paint Lick cemetery by the side of her husband to await the resurrection.

Rev. C. S. Ellis filled his regular appointment at Lewisburg Sunday.

Miss Mattie Wiley of Point Leavell is the guest of Mrs. Betty Griggs.

Mr. James Rucker, of Lexington, spent Sunday with the home people.

Misses Fannie Dowden and Lucile Lackey were week end guests of friends at Berea.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex R. Denny motored down from Richmond Sunday and were guests of relatives.

Rev. Carmichael, of College Hill, filled his pulpit at Walnut Sunday morning and evening.

Quite a number of Masons went to Richmond Monday for the burial of Captain William Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Coldiron have moved into the property that Mr. Dan Baker formerly occupied.

Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Rucker, of Richmond were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Rucker on Saturday.

The ladies Missionary Society of the Baptist church met with Mrs. Tom Logsdon, Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. W. W. West, who has been confined to her bed for some time, was able to be out at church, Sunday.

Mr. R. G. Denny and Miss Belle Denny of Stanford, came Monday for the funeral of Mrs. E. H. Walker.

There will be special Missionary services at Mt. Tabor Sunday morning instead of the regular Sunday School.

Mr. James Wynn and Mr. Burkhardt, of Berea College were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Wynn for the week end.

Mrs. James Carlisle, of Mansfield, O., and Mrs. John F. White, of Nicholasville were the guests of Mrs. Rice Woods the past week.

Mrs. W. F. Parks extends an invitation to all the ladies to attend her millinery opening Saturday, March 25th. Gage and Fisk hats a specialty.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hays, of Stanford are with relatives, having been called here by the illness and death of Mrs. Hays' sister, Mrs. E. H. Walker.

Rev. Wm. Telford, of Richmond, was the guest of Rev. W. M. Eldridge for Friday and Saturday and conducted the preparatory services for communion.

Mrs. John Wynn and little daughter, Eva Howard, and Mrs. Lucy Roup of Frankfort, left Saturday for a visit to their sister Mrs. M. G. Ward of Harlan.

Rank Foolishness.

You occasionally see it stated that colds do not result from cold weather. That is rank foolishness. Were it true colds would be as prevalent in midsummer as in midwinter. The microbe that causes colds flourishes in damp, cold weather. To get rid of a cold take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is effective and is highly recommended by people who have used it for many years as occasion required, and know its real value. Obtainable everywhere. 1-m

How To Prevent Croup.

When the child is subject to attacks of croup, see to it that he eats a light evening meal, an overloaded stomach may bring on an attack, also watch for the first symptom—hoarseness, and give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the child becomes hoarse. Obtainable everywhere. 1-m.

POEMS THAT LIVE.

The Blue And The Gray.

(Francis Miles Finch.)

By the flow of the inland river,
Whence the fleet of iron have fled,
Where the blades of the grass-grave quiver.

Asleep are the ranks of the dead,
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the Judgment Day;
Under the one, the Blue;
Under the other, the Gray.

These in the robings of glory,
Those in the gloom of defeat,
All with the battle-blood gory,
In the dusk of eternity meet,
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the Judgment Day;
Under the laurel, the Blue,
Under the willow, the Gray.

From the silence of sorrowful hours
The desolate mourners go,
Lovingly laden with flowers,
Alike for the friends and the foe;
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the Judgment Day;
Under the roses, the Blue;
Under the lilies, the Gray.

So, with an equal splendor
The morning sun rays fall,
With a touch impartially tender
On the blossoms blooming for all.
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the Judgment Day,
Broidered with gold, the Blue;
Under the lilies, the Gray.

Sadly, but not with upbraiding,
The generous deed was done.
In the storms of the years that are fading
No brave battle was won,
Under the sod and the dew;
Waiting the Judgment Day,
Under the blossoms, the Blue,
Under the garlands, the Gray.

No more shall the war cry sever,
Or the winding rivers be red;
They banish our anger forever
When they laurel the graves of our dead!
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the Judgment Day;
Love and tears for the Blue;
Tears and love for the Gray.

"Cured"

Mrs. Jay McGee, of Stephenville, Texas, writes: "For nine (9) years, I suffered with womanly trouble. I had terrible headaches, and pains in my back, etc. It seemed as if I would die, I suffered so. At last, I decided to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and it helped me right away. The full treatment not only helped me, but it cured me."

TAKE

Cardui
The Woman's Tonic

Cardui helps women in time of greatest need, because it contains ingredients which act specifically, yet gently, on the weakened womanly organs. So, if you feel discouraged, blue, out-of-sorts, unable to do your household work, on account of your condition, stop worrying and give Cardui a trial. It has helped thousands of women,—why not you? Try Cardui. E-71

We are authorized to announce Miss Jennie Higgins a candidate for County School Superintendent of Garrard County, subject to the action of the Democratic primary August 1917.

We are authorized to announce J. O. Bogie, as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for County Court Clerk, primary to be held August 1917.

The Legislature adjourned last week after a turbulent session. The usual criticism has been made. In this instance partially undeserved we think. The unfavorable impression made on the minds of some was given out, we think to some extent, by enemies of the present Administration for the purpose of injuring the Governor and his organization in the party. We have no complaint to make of those democrats who voted against the party platform in undertaking to submit to a vote the prohibition amendment to the Constitution who had previously promised their constituents that they would do so before they were bound by party platform.

On the contrary we have no complaint to extend to those democrats who were continuously forcing measures that would delay legislation, in violation of the party platform and who were undertaking to become prominent as dry leaders at the expense of party organization. They were disruptors of their party, obstructors of legislation and accomplished no good for the temperance cause. We doubt if some of the most radical were really inspired in their efforts for an advancement of temperance.

The Governor has demonstrated that he is a strong party leader. He and the Administration leaders enacted into law all of the promises of the platform except the amendment to the taxation laws. More constructive legislation was enacted than in any session for many years. The Anti-pass bill was a real reform. The Corrupt Practice Act is the foundation for the correction of corruption in elections. The Anti-Trust Bill introduced and handled by Mr. Kauffman is a measure of great merit. The Tax measure will either be handled at the next session or a call session will be had after the committee appointed has reported, which was selected to study the tax question and prepare a bill that would cover the needs. There were a great many useful measures that went into law which we think that after the people have considered the beginning work of Governor Stanley's administration, it will receive the favorable consideration from the people of the State to which it is really entitled. A large portion of the State-wide amendment talk and noise in the Legislature was for the purpose of preventing a fair consideration by the people of the meritorious work done by the Governor and his friends in the Legislature.

GOLD PEN FOR KAUFFMAN

Hon. H. Clay Kauffman was never prouder of his first pair of red top boots than he is of the gold pen presented to him by Governor Stanley, which was used in signing the Anti-Trust measure that made it a law. Mr. Kauffman was the author of this important measure and much credit was given him by Governor Stanley for safely steering it through the House.

GENEROUS GIFT

The City of Lancaster, as well as her many citizens are deeply grateful to Mr. W. J. Sparks, of Mt. Vernon, who through his agent, Mr. J. E. Thompson, of that city, donated and spread a ton of his AGRICULTURAL GROUND LIME upon the grass plots in our city park last week. This lime so highly recommended by the Kentucky Agricultural department, will insure a good stand of Blue grass for our park beautiful. Again we thank Mr. Sparks for his generosity.

BIBLE SCHOOL CONTEST

The Bible School Contest between Lancaster and Stanford continues, and it behooves Lancaster to be on the "quiver". Stanford is in earnest, they are at work, and going into the by-ways and hedges and bringing them in, while we are possibly waiting for them to come in. The Bible School that wins this contest is the one that will reap the harvest, the one that will confer a lasting benefit upon their church and community. Let your hearts be prompted, in the spirit of love to buckel on the armor of Christian fellowship and take a wide-awake interest in this contest.

The above is a good likeness of Mr. J. O. Bogie who announces this week his candidacy for County Court Clerk, subject to the action of the primary of 1917. He states that it is not his desire to interfere with the nomination to fill out the unexpired term made vacant by the death of Mr. J. W. Hamilton. The appointment made by Judge Arnold, as announced last week, in the person of Mr. Joe Hamilton, brother of Mrs. J. W. Hamilton, continues unless his successor is elected and qualifies in this fall, November, election. It will be necessary for the democratic party to nominate a candidate for this place at the August primary. We have heard of no candidates for the unexpired term and it will likely go to Mr. Joe Hamilton if he desires it. Mr. Bogie is well known to the people of Garrard county, having creditably represented Garrard County in the Kentucky Legislature for one term and served as Road Engineer for one year, which position he resigned to accept the position he now holds as traveling salesman.

Mr. Bogie has for many years been one of the most active working democrats in the County and at every election for many years has done his part. He has always worked in the Buckeye precinct which is overwhelmingly republican and has never failed to give a good account of himself. He is well qualified to perform the duties of the office and has many friends throughout the County, who think that he is the strongest man the democrats could nominate. He will make an active effort to get his organization in shape for the 1917 Primary, believing that the "early bird gets the worm". It is rumored that a number of other democrats would like to have this same position and who are preparing to make public announcement.

BROWN

Mr. A. B. Brown, Jr., was called to Harrodsburg last Thursday evening by the sudden death of his brother, Jacob C. Brown, who died of apoplexy, in the eightieth year of his age. Mr. Brown had lived in Mercer county for nearly thirty years and was one of the county's best and most influential citizens. He was a devout and consistent member of the Christian church, having affiliated with this denomination when a lad of 14 years. He is survived by his wife and four children and leaves two brothers, A. B. Brown, Jr. of this county and H. B. Brown, of Oklahoma, and one sister, Mrs. Maggie Talmage of New Mexico. After funeral services at his late home the remains were buried in the Berea cemetery, near Rose Hill.

CRISCILLIS

The news of the sudden death of Mr. J. C. Criscillis, which occurred at his home near Hiattsville early Monday morning was a shock to his family and his numerous friends over the county. The cause of his sudden demise was heart failure, although his family were not aware of the fact that he had ever been afflicted with this trouble. Mr. Criscillis was a devout and consistent member of the Baptist church, having served as its elder for over 20 years. He moved to this county about twelve years ago and has been one of the county's most progressive farmers. Besides a devoted wife he is survived by two sons, James and Joe, and one daughter Lida, and a multitude of friends to mourn the death of a devoted father and husband. Under all circumstances he walked in the well beaten path of righteousness. He was the soul of honor and his friends and friendships were sacred to him. After funeral services at his late home conducted by his pastor, Rev. A. J. Clere, the remains were laid to rest in the Lancaster cemetery Wednesday morning.

WALKER.

Mrs. Elizabeth Woods Walker, relict of the late Edd Walker, died at her country home Monday March 20th, and was buried in the Paint Lick cemetery Tuesday. She had passed her seventy-first milestone in life's journey and her weakening heart gradually carried her to that last span of life without either she or her loved ones knowing the parting was so close at hand. Mrs. Walker was a gracious type of the grand womanhood of old Kentucky.

She was a life-long member of the Presbyterian church and one of the most Godly women who ever lived, universally loved. Hers was a finished work, her life was well rounded out. As wife, mother, sister, friend and christian, she had been in every sense all every one of these could possibly embrace. Her life's battles had been won, her plan for peace established the "cloth of gold" had been spun and finished according to the most perfect design.

With faith in her Saviour, with love in her heart she fell asleep to rise in a new life. The Record with the entire community extends sympathy to the bereaved family.

A more extended notice of her life and work will be seen in the Paint Lick letter.

EASON.

Mr. Cyrus C. Eason, one of the best and most highly respected citizens of Garrard and Mercer, died suddenly at his home near Salvisa, Friday the 18th. At one time Mr. Eason and his most estimable wife lived in Lancaster, later they moved to lower Garrard after which they moved to Mercer, always making and retaining warm friends. He was a member of the Christian church and an ardent supporter of the W. C. T. U. Mr. Eason was a man of quiet and gentle disposition in his home and in his neighborhood, but the esteem in which he was held by his neighbors was evinced by the kindly attentions paid his memory and to his wife when he was so suddenly taken from them. Mr. Eason had seemed as well as usual on the day he died, but came in and told his wife his head was hurting, he sat down and died before she could reach his side. He had lived a consecrated Christian life and had said he was ready to die and had hoped he would die just as he did. Had he lived until the 25th of May he would have been seventy years old. It is sad to give up one whose influence among men was always for good, one who spread abroad the example of Godly living and to the bereaved wife, left so lonely and desolate, we extend our heartfelt sympathy. May time bring its resignation. The remains were brought back to his old home and after services at the grave conducted by Elder F. M. Tindler they were laid to rest in the Lancaster cemetery.

EVIDENCES.

A small bird flying North today
Told me that spring was on the way,
And paused upon my window-sill
A little snatch of song to trill
Which made me think of April showers,
And sunny gardens full of flowers,
And blossoms white upon the trees,
And lyric whispers of the breeze,
Of May and June, and then I knew
The secret that he told was true!

THE FUTURE OF

COLLEGE STUDENTS.

Figures of the plans of the Yale College senior class were given out the past week. There are 126 of them who will enter some form of business, while but 70 of them will become lawyers, and only nine clergymen. This is a great change from the years when most college graduates went into the professions.

The big motive governing this choice seems to be the matter of money. Business is popular because it offers a chance for large returns. Law is the one profession that is still favored, since it too has chances for big incomes. But it is an overcrowded profession. Many young men have little liking for the long, solitary wait after a student has hung out his shingle, with years of anxious listening for footfalls down the corridor.

The college students are supposed to have spent their four years in contact with the world's great philosophies. These frown upon the search for wealth, and exalt plain living and high thinking. But the world's golden prizes look much more shiny and alluring.

SQUEEZING BLOOD

OUT OF A TURNIP

A Lot Of People Apparently Think It Can Be Done.

"You can't squeeze blood out of a turnip." This is absolutely true, but a lot of people evidently don't believe it. You can't expect nervous, run down men and women to be cheery, normal beings. They don't get one-half out of life that they deserve. But a lot of people expect it of them.

In every community there are a legion of these men and women. Not really sick, perhaps, but affected with a nervous, debilitated condition so that they imagine countless things are wrong with them. They have frequent headaches, are sluggish in mind and in body and they haven't enough real energy to make them self-reliant in even the little things of life. They haven't enough rich, red blood to nourish their bodies.

Their vital organs are congested. They need something to speed up their assimilation to a normal state, something to bring back old vitality, self-reliance and a cheery view of life.

They need something that contains the right nerve food, tonic, invigorator and appetizer which will awake their sleeping energies.

Tanlac is designed especially to meet these conditions. For the relief of stomach, kidney and liver ailments and catarrhal affections of the mucous membranes it is believed to be without an equal. It fortifies one to better encounter fatigue, exposure and the daily grind of life.

Tanlac has won the greatest success ever scored by a medicine. It could not have done so without superlative merit. As the proof of the pudding is in the eating, so is the proof of Tanlac in the taking.

Tanlac may be obtained in the nearby cities. Paint Lick, J. N. Metcalf; Bryantsville, Becker & Ballard; Little Hickman, Collier and Bruner; Berea, S. E. Welch; Stanford, Penny's Drug Store; Junction City, Reynolds and Evans; Richmond, H. L. Perry & Son; Crab Orchard, Lyne Bros.; Burgin, G. T. Schofield; Danville, John S. Wells; R. E. McRoberts, Lancaster.

ATTENTION.

DRUGGISTS—STORE KEEPERS.

An exclusive Tanlac agent is wanted in every town, village and cross road in this county. For particulars and advertising plans address

SCHOOL NOTES.

The teachers will hold their regular meeting Friday evening with Misses Robinson and Hatcher.

Miss Tinder pleased and inspired the school Friday morning by telling in her own matchless way the story of "The Great Stone Face".

After this week the extension of time heretofore given to the pupils driving in from the country will be withdrawn and everybody will be expected to report at 8:15.

Bro. Clere, of the Baptist church conducted devotional exercises Tuesday morning. He also gave the school a most excellent talk on "opportunity" enforcing all his points with a great wealth of illustration.

Dr. R. H. Crossfield, President of Transylvania University, will give his address on "Preparedness; or Why Go To College?" in the school auditorium Friday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. The public is cordially invited to hear this address.

The Report Cards this month show substantial progress and marked improvement over last month. The attendance is better and the work superior. This improvement may in a large measure be attributed to the additional study hour put on at the close of the days work.

LANCASTER WILL ENTER-TAIN KNOXVILLE BOARD
OF COMMERCECity Club And Business Men Of Lancaster
will Meet Train.

The Knoxville Board of Commerce is receiving enthusiastic letters daily from the different Boards of Commerce of the towns and cities to be visited on their First Trade Trip, assuring them of their hearty co-operation in making this trip the decided success the Knoxville organization desires it to be. While this is the first trip that Knoxville has ever made of this kind, neither pains nor expense are being spared to make it a success in every way.

The purpose of the trip is not altogether for business purposes, or for selling goods, but rather to meet the people of the various towns from whom they buy goods and to who they sell goods, and to bring them into a closer relationship with each other.

In several of the larger towns and cities where the "Special" is to stop for some length of time, preparations are being made to entertain the visitors in many ways; while in the smaller towns where the length of stay will not permit of extensive entertainment, other forms will be provided.

The special will consist of eight all-steel Pullman cars, including two dining cars and one combination baggage and refreshment car.

The train will carry over 100 of Knoxville's leading business and professional men and manufacturers on board. Besides these, there will be a large brass band to help make merry when the visitors arrive in the various towns and cities.

Each member of the party will wear a white hat and carry a striped umbrella in addition to wearing the regular badge.

The City Club and the business men of Lancaster and Garrard Co., will meet this train Wednesday morning, April 12 and escort them at once to the Club room where they will be entertained by the City Club. Every effort will be made to make this visit of mutual advantage to the business men of Knoxville and the business men of Lancaster. One of the slogans of the party is "Get Acquainted".

The personnel of the party is made up of the most prominent men of Knoxville. Practically every big enterprise in that city has signified its intention of having a representative make the four days trip on the special train. Commercial bodies in many of the towns and cities to be visited have already arranged a program for the entertainment of the visitors.

The Knoxville committee in charge is endeavoring to impress upon the commercial bodies in the towns to be visited that this trade trip isn't made for selfish motives. The social and the personal contact features are considered the most important, and every effort will be made by the men on the "special" to make real friends of the men they meet along the route. The Knoxville wholesalers want to visit the stores of the men to whom they have sold in the past. The retailer wants to meet the men who have bought their supplies from him. The bankers in the party want to know the bankers in other towns and cities, and so on through the list. Of course every man in the party wants to increase the business he is now doing, but what is more important, every one of them wants to know from whom to purchase some of the products of the sections visited.

IN MEMORIAM.

Heaven seems more real and its reality consists not so much in its streets of gold and gates of pearl, as in the ones who dwell there, when one by one our friends and loved ones part from us forever in this life. Another link was added to the chain of love that binds hearts closer to heaven, when on Sunday, March 12th, their little son, Chester Ray, was taken from Mr. and Mrs. Shirley O. Estes to live in a world where sorrow is not known and sin never enters. Only two years, two months and two weeks of age, and during this short pilgrimage of life, with impaired health, this little child was to father and mother what the weakest lamb of the flock is to the shepherd—the object of the most tender affection.

But it is left for eternity to reveal to us why our hearts should be saddened by our dearest friends being taken from us. We can only say, "Thy will be done," when the Master speaks. It is very like the inscription on a child's tombstone in an English churchyard, as follows: "Who plucked that flower?" cried the gardener, as he walked through the garden. His fellow servant answered, "The Master." And the gardener held his peace.

In vain we spend our efforts to comfort those in whose hearts grief has come. We may give our reasons for comfort and hope, yet still in the hearts of those "who loved him best" there is a vacancy that cannot be filled. There is grief one can never know unless a dear one has been taken from his own home—one of his own children.

We can only commend the bereaved unto Him who said, "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." Let us all prepare for the time when with the poet we must say,

"Life! we've been long together,
Through pleasant and cloudy weather;
'Tis hard to part when friends are dear;

Perhaps 'twill cost a sigh, a tear;
Then steal away, give little warning,
Choose thine own time;
Say not good-night, but in some brighter clime
Bid us good morning."

TO THE MEMORY

OF J. W. HAMILTON.

All who knew him will approve of this character sketch of "Will" Hamilton. He was true in domestic, social and business relations. Once he became convinced of his duty, there was no compromise. This was especially true in his official career, of about eighteen years, as Circuit Clerk and County Clerk. Prominent men who had business in his office assert that it was run with system and true to the letter of the law. In fact there was no fault found with his methods.

The physical is the expression of the spiritual. Evil spirits are manifested by frowns and curses. Gentle spirits are manifested by smiles and kind words. He had a smile and a kind word for every one. This evinces an absence of hatred and malice, and good will for all. It enabled him to count his acquaintances as his friends. Smiles and frowns are prompted by the spirit within and prove the kind of spirit, for good or evil. True to his friends, loyal to duty and steadfast on questions of honor he drew friends as a magnet draws the needle.

Let us indulge the fond hope that his noble traits of character will be reflected upon his two bright little sons; that they may live to a ripe age than he, do much good in life, and finally enjoy an abundant entrance in the bode of eternal rest.

To his aged mother, his wife, children, brothers and sisters, I extend sincere condolence.

M. D. Hughes.

ates.

Miss Alice Hudson Rigney was the charming young hostess on Friday evening at a pretty social affair, in compliment to the members of the Presbyterian Christian Endeavor Society. The hours were from 7:30 to 11. The house was quite attractive in its decorations.
St. Patrick's colors being carried out in both the ices and decorations. A most interesting contest of Bible questions
was one of the enjoyable features of the evenings entertainment. The place cards used were hand painted and decorated with shamrocks.

Col. Louis Landram, the versatile editor of the Danville Messenger and former president of the Kentucky
Press Association, with Mrs. Landram, were among the friends who came over from the Boyle county capital
Monday afternoon with the body of Mrs. Mary Bowman, widow of former regent John B. Bowman, of Kentucky University, who was interred here yesterday. Col. Landram, although one of the veterans quill drivers of the State, is still as young, active and vivacious as when he presided over the destinies of the State Press Associations more than a decade ago, and judging from the excellent paper he is making of the Messenger his hand
has not forgotten its cunning when it comes to handling the editorial quill. Col. Landram is one of the few members of the newspaper craft whom long service in the harness has not aged, nor has custom staled his infinite variety. Few, if any, newspaper men in Kentucky number more friends among the profession than Col. Landram, and his coming to Lexington is always a source of gratification.—Lexington Leader.

Mrs. May Hughes Noland has been added to the faculty of the Richmond
School, on Third street, between Oak and Ormsby, in the capacity of musical director. The announcement is made in a circular issued by Prof. J. H.
Richmond the principal. A studio has been fitted up at the school, where Mrs.
Noland will instruct individual pupils
in piano study and in classes in harmony.

Mrs. Noland is a graduate of Garrard College under Prof. Raphael Koester, of Berlin. She followed this with study at the Lincoln, Neb., Conservatory of Music and at the Conservatory of Music at Cincinnati. At the latter place she filled a position of accompanist.—
Courier Journal.

Those who have known Mrs. Noland all her life, not only congratulate the school that has her as a musical director, but the parents whose children
come in contact with such a cultured, christian lady, whose precept
and example will mean as much as the music lessons.

Lancaster is justly proud of such a capable woman as Mrs. Noland.

Presently the girl said: "My don't that popcorn smell good?"

"Yes," said the gallant youth, "and I'll drive closer so we can smell it better."

GOES TO DANVILLE

After receiving many flattering offers from business firms, Mr. Arthur Joseph has accepted the assistant managership of the ladies department,

April first. Mr. Joseph is one of our most progressive and successful young business men and has many friends
here who will wish him well in his new home.

"FRIED HAM"

The Paris Democrat, of last week,
copied a full page from the Corpus Christi Texas, Daily Herald which was written in the nature of a reply to aspersions cast upon citizens of that city by Ham and Ramsey at a recent meeting. The Democrat of Paris printed 500 extra papers and here is what it says of how they took in Danville:

"The people of the cultured city
of Danville seem to enjoy 'Fried Ham.' At least from the number of copies of last Saturday's Democrat ordered by citizens of that place would so indicate. Orders for more than two hundred copies were received from there."

The Corpus Christi Herald fries Ham
to a dark brown turn and the Record
will also print the article in full when we have the space.

COURT NEWS

The dullest court that has been seen here in years is just now about to come to a close. The only cases tried by jury this week was, Pope and Robinson against the L. & N. Railroad for damage to cattle while being shipped from Blackley, Ky. to this point. The plaintiff's got judgement for $125, but sued for $305.

In the case of J. M. Duncan against the Garrard County Court, after all the evidence for the plaintiff was heard, on motion of the plaintiff's attorney's the case was dismissed at the plaintiff's cost. This was a controversy over a road connecting Water street with the Danville turnpike, the county having recently opened this road for the benefit of the public.

The grand jury has adjourned over until next Friday which will be the last day.

Judge Hardin was called to Mayfield
to try an important case and the petit jury was dismissed until Monday
April 3rd.

Be Positive.

It is the idle life and the empty mind and the empty soul that is in the greatest peril. It is on the vacant land that they shoot all the filthy rubbish. The had pictures got on the walls because there are vacant spaces.
It is a useless thing to try to exterminate evil in your life as though that were the end of your being. It is not enough to check vice, to say to your children, "Thou shalt not," and to suggest nothing positive. Be positive.—
Rev. Charles Brown, D. D.

The Womans Club

(Edited By The Womans Club)

The attendance and interest of the Lancaster Woman's Club has kept up throughout the entire year. Each member feeling she has gained much in information and social contact. The election of officers is not far distant and this honor is never chosen lightly by the nominating committee and has never in the history of the club has it been lightly cast aside. Each newly elected President feels it her duty to return what she can in helpfulness, in-

THE RED BERKSHIRE HAS COME TO STAY.

(The Swine World)

So often we hear of the good old state of Kentucky, famed for her good "hoses", her pretty women, her good whiskey and her bluegrass pastures. But somehow or other when a hog man goes down in to that state, and sees what a really big industry the hog business has attained there, he wonders just why the Kentucky porkers have not received their share of credit from the blue grass press agents.

Down there in old "Kentucky" you will find hogs galore and all kinds of them. As one travels thru that rolling limestone country one can't help but envy those Kentucky farmers.

They call it "God's country" down there in Madison, Garrard and Lincoln counties and we believe it is rightly named.

The writer went down into Kentucky to learn something about that breed of hogs called Red Berkshire which are now coming into prominence. In the three above named counties is where the Red Berkshire is found most common.

The writer had seen some of these red hogs at the Kentucky state fair last September, and, as there has been considerable controversy regarding their name and considerable interest created in the hogs themselves, I took a week off and went down into the blue grass state to get the "facts about this breed."

I visited some eight or ten of the more prominent Red Berkshire breeders in the above named counties and aside from being shown some good hogs, I was entertained in true Kentucky style and most royally to be sure.

To most people Red Berkshires are a new breed, but not to a Kentuckian. Those hogs have been bred by people in Central Kentucky for one hundred years, according to breeders in that section. They have been known in the state as long, or perhaps longer, than any breed of swine.

Back in the early days, along about 1830, John W. Walker and Hilary Gibbs of Garrard county Ky., drove hogs to the Southern market. In the fall of year they would buy up hogs in lots of 400 and 500 and start for North Carolina. When they left Garrard county these hogs would weigh from 100 to 150 pounds. The trip to South Carolina require many weeks to complete. On the way, these shippers would buy corn of farmers to feed their hogs. When they reached the Southern market, about Christmas, the hogs would be in high flesh and hard as nails and consequently in splendid condition to kill. They would sell them at market prices, which, in those days ranged from 2 to 5 cents.

Because of this long journey south, these Kentucky shippers had to practice rigorous selection of their animals. They had to secure animals especially strong in their feet and back in order to stand the long drive south.

These shippers found the red hogs, which later became known as Red Berkshires, admirably adapted for this purpose. The "red hogs" were good "drivers". They were good on their feet and could stand the long drive and at the same time steadily put on flesh. These hogs were hardy, and vigorous, good in their backs and were the kind that would rustle for themselves.

When railroads were built in Kentucky and hogs were no longer driven to the market, these red hogs were used a great deal by the farmers and cattle feeders. They were especially good to follow cattle because of their ability to get about and hustle for themselves. They have been very popular in Central Kentucky and when once used by a man were ever after kept by his family and descendants.

No bunch of men ever organized to push this breed and put them before the public until 1913 and this accounts for the hog not being more commonly known.

WHERE THEY GOT THEIR NAME
In the early days this breed was known as "red hogs", being easy to distinguish from other hogs, because they were the only red breed hogs in that country at that time.

In one county they were called Silver Creek Reds, Silver Creek being the name of a stream running thru that section. Later they began calling the hogs Red Berkshires because the type was somewhat similar to the black Berkshires at that time. Since then the black Berkshire type has changed considerably and now the Red Berkshire show an entirely different type from that of the modern Berkshire. The name Red Berkshire is misleading because the two breeds are not at all similar. The Red Berkshire men claim that the breed has been kept pure for many years and this statement is verified by the remarkable prepotency of the hogs when crossed with other breeds.

Now about the type. The Red Berkshire type is more similar to that of the Hampshire than that of any other breed. The color is red, varying from a deep cherry to a light yellow. White feet and white spots on forehead are common. The head is medium length, somewhat narrow, medium width between eyes, face straight, even and regular. The hogs are very light in the jaw. The ears are of medium length and thin, inclined outward and upward.

The Red Berkshires are very smooth symmetrical, with good strong backs and feet and exceptional hams. They are fairly wide and deep, nearly always carrying their width well from end to end. The individuals of the breed are exceptionally uniform.

All breeds can be criticized. The Red Berkshires are no exception to this rule. I would criticize the breed for their lack of size, altho I saw sows in breeding condition that would weigh 500 pounds, and boars that will tip the scales around the 700 mark. As a rule, however, some of the gilts lack somewhat in length and scale. They can stand a little more bone and ruggedness thruout. The lack of size can be overcome in a few years if proper selections are made.

The Red Berkshires are vigorous, thrifty hogs. They are ever up in the morning and out in the pastures, and splendid grass hogs. They are the kind of hog that will do their part of the rooting if left to "root hog or die". These hogs have the foundation of a splendid breed of swine. It seems to the writer that there are splendid prospects for the breeders of the Red Berkshires. With good material to work with, a good foundation upon which to build, a remarkably prepotent hog, one which breeds remarkably true, and uniform and a number of progressive, intelligent men back of the breed, progress is bound to be made.

The Red Berkshires first attended a state fair in 1915. Last September 25 head were on exhibition at the Kentucky state fair. A great deal of interest was manifested in the breed and this show proved to the owners of the Red Berkshires that it pays to take hogs to the shows.

These breeders are planning on showing at Kentucky State, the Tri-State Fair at Memphis, and the National Swine Show at Omaha in 1916.

Here's wishing you well, Red Berkshire breeders. The Swine World is with you. The reason we are with you is because you have good hogs. Get your hogs a little bigger, keep away from fads and fancy points, always keeping in mind that a hog is bred for the pork there is in him; sell your stuff at reasonable prices, never practice boom methods and success will be yours.

CARTHAGE WOMAN TELLS HAPPY STORY

Mrs. Laura Duke of Carthage, Tenn., was a victim of stomach disorders for several years. She lost appetite and her weight fell off. She could not rest at night.

She took Mayr's Wonderful Remedy—just a few doses—and found herself restored.

In fact, Mrs. Duke's recovery was so rapid she was afraid that it could be only temporary. So she waited from September, when she took the remedy, until the following February to pass judgment. Then she wrote:

"I write you in regard to your wonderful stomach remedy that I took last September. I feel better than I have in five years.

"My weight was 127½ pounds; now it is 147½, and I can eat anything I want. I sleep well at night. I would have written before, but I wanted to see how I got along."

Mayr's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee—if not satisfactory money will be returned.

MISSING 23 YEARS, HE RETURNS RICH

FALL INJURED HIS MEMORY

On Recovering He Was Ashamed to Write, but Prospered and at Last Decided to Return—Found Wife and Two Grown Children—Happy Family Reunion Results.

Frederick C. Prange was reunited with his family at Stamford, Conn., the other day after having been given up as dead for twenty-three years. When he went away he was poor. He comes back rich and with a story as strange as a moving picture scenario.

Prange was in business in a small way in Stamford in 1892. He had lived there all his life and was well known and highly respected. Prange lived with his wife and two children—Elita, eighteen, and Charles, twenty—at that time in a comfortable home.

In the fall of that year the wanderlust seized him. He believed a fortune awaited him in the west. Finally he answered the call, telling his family that he would communicate with them later.

Months passed and they heard nothing. The months lengthened into years, and still no tidings came. Advertisements were inserted in newspapers all over the country without avail. Then the conclusion was forced upon the family that Prange was dead. He was mourned as such.

Suffered Partial Aphasia.
Meantime Prange was encountering strange experiences. He went first to Chicago, then to Denver. In Colorado he became interested in gold mining and started to prospect. He was so engrossed in his surroundings that he forgot to write home.

One day while riding along a lonely trail his horse stumbled and threw him on his head. For weeks he was in a hospital with brain fever. When he finally emerged he suffered from partial aphasia. His mind for months was a blank.

It was a long time before Prange fully recovered. Then, ashamed to write home, he plunged farther into the west. He took up mining in California and prospered.

Within the past few years his activities have centered about Los Angeles, where he made a fortune. Still he delayed writing to his family. He believed his wife and children dead. Then came a longing to know. He decided to go east.

Prange arrived in New York. So sure was he that his family was dead that he went at once to the family burying plot in the Hackensack (N. J.) cemetery. No new graves were there. He then visited a brother-in-law, William Huyler, in New York and from him learned that his wife and children were still in Stamford. The daughter is Mrs. Henry J. Flick, wife of a photographer there. She now has a daughter as old as Prange's daughter when he went away. The son is Dr. Charles Prange, a prosperous dentist.

The wife, son and daughter were communicated with, and all three hurried to New York. Prange met them, and the reunited family went to Stamford.

Prange is sixty-nine years old, and his hair is white. He proposes to dispose of all his interests in California and will spend the remainder of his days in Stamford, which he left so long ago.

ELECTRICITY FROM THE AIR.

Kansas Man Gets It, but What Is He Going to Do With It?

For two years Harry Perrigo of Kansas City, Mo., has been striving to draw electricity out of the air. He can get the currents all right. The trouble is that he can't take care of the power after he gets it.

The other day the inventor was knocked unconscious twice by the strong current and both times a pulmonologist brought him to. Later he took the count again. But Dr. James I. Tyree and the pulmonologist soon were on hand, and in an hour Perrigo was at work again.

Perrigo's device resembles a wireless tower connected with a mysterious bread box and numerous wires. He says his machine already has furnished enough power to light an eight room house.

FINDS HEIR TO $400,000.

Son of Oil Man Located After Search of Nine Years.

Keith Edwin Dalrymple, twenty-five years old, who has been sought for nine years as heir to about $400,000 left by his father, a Pennsylvania oil operator, was taken to Charles City, Ia., from the south by Dr. C. M. Palmer.

Dalrymple is a nephew of Mrs. Palmer and when a small boy made his home with the Palmers, but later ran away.

"The boy was located in a southern hospital in February," Dr. Palmer said. "He was in need of attention, and I went to his relief and brought him to our home, where he will be cared for, and where he will make his future home."

Sign of Good Digestion.

When you see a cheerful and happy old lady you may know that she has good digestion. If your digestion is impaired or if you do not richly enjoy your meals take a dose of Chamberlain's Tablets. They strengthen the stomach, improve the digestion and cause a gentle movement of the bowels. Obtainable everywhere.

POULTRY POINTERS.

Geese are often good breeders up to twenty or twenty-five years of age, though the ganders should be replaced sooner.

Gobblers should be changed every year.

Milk is good both as an egg and a meat growing food, and the chicks are fond of it.

As it comes to the breeding season begin to cull your flock closely.

Keep the fowls indoors during bad weather and especially when there is snow on the ground.

CHICKS IN BROODERS MUST BE KEPT WARM

The advent of several hundred brooder chicks means that all other plans are subservient to them for the first two weeks of their life, writes a correspondent of the American Agriculturist. We plan ahead so that the household work need not interfere in any way with giving them full care especially for the first four or five days. We have found that when we can keep our chicks growing steadily until six weeks of age there is little trouble afterward.

Warmth is of first importance for these downy babies. With a valuable hatch we examine the temperature several times each night until five days of age. We keep the temperature in the brooder close to 100 degrees during the first week and reduce this about 10 degrees during the second week.

After the third week, if the chicks are well grown and the weather is moderate, we place them in a fireless brooder heated only with jugs and cans of hot water. These brooders consist of a stout framework six inches high, which is placed over plenty of chaff on the floor of the brooder house. Over this is placed loosely an ample cover of burlap so that it touches the floor about the sides and sinks down

After the incubator chicks have thoroughly dried out they should be removed to the brooder. If the weather is cold the brooder should be at a temperature but a little below that of the incubator, say about 100 degrees. After the first week the heat may be gradually reduced, one degree a week. Be sure that the brooder is about 30 degrees on cold nights. The picture shows chicks being transferred to a brooder.

In the center so as to rest on the floor. Under this burlap the chickens love to crawl.

During the day one jug or can of hot water is kept under each brooder to encourage the chicks to enter when tired. At night enough are used in case the weather is cool so that they can all get near the heat. If there is a tendency toward piling up it indicates that there is not sufficient heat. When sufficiently warm the chicks spread out evenly about the brooder. The burlap while retaining the heat yet admits fresh air.

BEETS FOR POULTRY.

Mangels Especially Valuable as a Succulent Feed For Hens.

For strong egg production plenty of succulence in poultry feed is required, says the Farm Journal. By succulence is meant a food material which contains the original vegetable juices of the plant as it grew—for example, cabbage, lettuce, sprouted oats, mangels, beets, etc. Succulence, as here defined, has two definite purposes to perform in the ration—it acts as a tonic, increasing the food consumption by having a definite effect upon the palatability of the ration; where plenty of green food is given the birds relish the food better and digest more.

Mangel beets have peculiar advantages as succulent carriers. They are very succulent, containing approximately 70 to 75 per cent of water. Mangels are generally fed by cutting in half lengthwise. The halves can then be nailed to the wall (the cut side out) with twenty penny spikes about a foot from the floor.

Mangel beets are essentially a winter feed and should be fed in such an amount that the poultry will clean them up each day. If greater quantities are given there will be waste. Some poultrymen grind the beets in a vegetable cutter and feed them in an open wooden trough. This method admits of the birds eating the entire beet; but, on the other hand, it requires considerable labor.

Cheerfulness Above Levity.

Between levity and cheerfulness there is a wide distinction; the mind that is most open to the former is frequently a stranger to the latter. Levity may be the offspring of folly or vice; cheerfulness is the natural offspring of wisdom and virtue.—Blair.

Mr. Smith Protests.

"Looky here!" snarled Grout P. Smith, addressing the village bore. "Why the deuce do you keep saying, 'You know' when you are talking to me? Dad-burn it, of course I know! In addition to what I willfully and maliciously know on my own hook, I know thousands of things not worth knowing, that people have insisted on telling me!"—Kansas City Star.

Quiet Joys.

The joys that are bought with money are worth nothing compared with the joys that, though sweet and gentle and unassuming, are yet deep, enduring and quieting; the joys that enlarge the heart instead of diminishing it, and which we too often pass by—some what in the manner of those peasants who one sees in an ecstasy over the fireworks at some fête, and who pay not the smallest attention to the splendor of a summer night.—Sabatier.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 4 oz. of glycerine. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the desired shade. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and removes dandruff. It is excellent for falling hair and will make harsh hair soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off.

FAMOUS RECIPE OF PRESIDENT'S WEDDING CAKE.

Through the courtesy of the Calumet Baking Powder Co., we are enabled to pass along the recipe used by Mrs. Marian Cole Fisher and Miss Pansy Bowen in the preparation of the famous Wilson Galt Wedding Cake, which has attracted so much attention throughout the country through the Movie News Weeklies.

Materials Used in the Cake—Nine cups flour, sifted; four cups sugar, granulated; two and one-fourth cups butter, uncolored, unsalted; three cups milk, skimmed; one-half teaspoon each violet and vanilla extract; one teaspoon rose water; three drops lemon extract; fifteen egg whites; nine level teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder. Quantities above are two and one-half times amount required for usual family size.

Preparation—Assemble all materials before beginning the mixing. Prepare heart-shaped pan eighteen inches in diameter by placing note paper on the bottom to just reach the sides. Grease the sides one inch up and any portion of the bottom not covered by the paper. Do not grease the paper. Sift the flour once before measuring. Measure into the sifter, add the baking powder and sift five times. Cream the butter, add sugar gradually, and cream until white and fluffy. Whip the egg whites with a large egg whip until the dish can be inverted. Whip the egg whites lightly into creamed butter and sugar. Pour in the milk, sift in the flour, and beat until perfectly smooth. Add the flavoring. Place in a warm oven, temperature about 220 Fahr. Bake at low point of heat, and allow to rise as high as it will before Browning over the top. Time for this large cake was two hours.

Meringue Icing—Materials for syrup; Four and one-half cups granulated sugar, one and one-half cups water. Materials for meringue; Six egg whites, six tablespoons granulated sugar, one and one-half teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder. Materials for finish; Three egg whites, six drops rose water. Quantities above are two and one-half times amount required for usual family size.

Preparation—Make syrup that will crack when dropped in ice water. Whip the six egg whites until stiff. Add the six tablespoons sugar and whip. Then whip in the baking powder. Whip in the syrup until all taken up and it will hold its shape when lifted up on the egg whip. Then whip in the three extra unbeaten egg whites and rose water. If weather is damp it may be well for the amateur to add first about one-half of the egg white, whipping up lightly, later adding balance.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE OF LAND.

GARRARD CIRCUIT COURT.

Jas. F. Mosier's widow and hrs. Pliffs. VS. Jas. F. Mosier's hrs and creditors Defts Pursuant to a judgment rendered at the March term 1916 of the Garrard Circuit Court the undersigned Commissioner will sell at public auction to the highest and best bidder before the Court House door in Lancaster, Ky. at 11 o'clock A. FOR BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING COUGH, CROUP, COUGHS AND COLDS

Make the Best Remedy at Home—128 Teaspoonful for 50 cents.

If everything was sold in as liberal and a manner as the below named drug stores are selling Schiffmann's New Concentrated Expectant, absolutely no reason for complaint or dissatisfaction could possibly arise from anyone. These druggists say—"Buy a bottle of this remedy, and try it for Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Severe Cough, Croup or any Bronchial Affection, and we will return your money, just the same as we do with Schiffmann's famous Asthmador, if it does not give satisfaction, or if not found the best remedy ever used for any of these complaints." Why not take advantage of this guarantee and try this medicine, and get your money back, rather than buying another purely on the exaggerated claims of its manufacturer on the strength of testimonials from others and run the chance of getting something worthless and also wasting your money?
In buying this remedy, besides securing an absolute guarantee of its efficiency from these druggists, you also get about eight times as much medicine as you would in buying most any of the old-fashioned, ready-made kinds, which average from 20 to 32 teaspoonfuls, because 50c worth makes a whole pint (128 teaspoonfuls) when mixed at home with simply one pint of sugar and one-half pint of water. This remedy positively does not contain chloroform, opium, morphine or any other narcotic. It is pleasant to take and children are fond of it. You will be the sole judge, and under this positive guarantee absolutely no risk is run in buying this remedy. Druggists everywhere are authorized to sell it under the same guarantee as Schiffmann's famous Asthmador of "Money Back" if not perfectly satisfactory. R. J. Schiffmann, Proprietor, Saint Paul, Minn. DAIRY and CREAMERY

SPRING DAIRY PROBLEMS.

Cows Need Especial Care as Warmer Weather Approaches.

Every season has its peculiar dairy problems, and if we are wise we will take these up as we come to them seriously and not try to run all operations which have to do with our cows in the same mold, writes E. L. Vincent in the Iowa Homestead.

For example, the cow needs different feed and care as we get along toward spring than she does when she first comes into the stable in the fall of the year. To be at her best and to do her best through the season a cow should go to pasture in good flesh and with vigor unimpaired by the long confinement of the winter.

We have learned that careful grooming is a very great aid in strengthening the cow and helping her to lay on flesh. It is the time of the year when the hair naturally falls off. As it loosens if we do not take some pains

While the Ayrshire seems by nature adapted to the production of milk to be used on the table and for food in its original form, still she is no mean butter cow, her milk being rich in butter fat, but as the cream rises slowly it is much more profitable to use a separator, for with a separator the cream is as readily extracted from Ayrshire milk as from any other, and there is no noticeable difference in the churnability of Ayrshire cream from that of any of the butter breeds. The bull shown herewith is an Ayrshire.

to remove it the body becomes clogged with impurities, the pores of the skin being stopped up and the poisons which should be eliminated that way are turned back into the system, producing more or less debility and directly affecting the efficiency of the animal.

It may seem at first thought that it would make no difference with a cow's flesh if she were not brushed and curried down regularly. How can it make a cow fat or thin to groom her or not to groom her? By repeated experiments we have settled it for ourselves that the cow which is not cared for in this way will actually grow thin on the same feed which will make another cow which is well attended to in this respect, lay on flesh.

The reason for this is not far to seek. The cow which is not groomed is not comfortable. She is all the time working with her tongue and against every bar post she comes to to free herself from dust and hair that needs to come off. Any man who has watched his cows at all knows how uncomfortable they appear at this season of the year. And, more than the bodily comfort, she does not get the good out of her food that she would were her system in good working order.

Another good thing for the dairy in the spring of the year is regular exercise in the open air. There will be days when the wind will be chill and raw, but there are no days when it does not do a cow good to get out and exercise some. Exercise sets the blood to tingling and freshens up the breathing apparatus. It sends the cow in feeling good and ready for her meal. We ought not to expose our herds until they are chilled, for that would defeat the purpose we have in providing the daily outing, but some chance to stretch the limbs and breathe the pure air certainly is a great help in the dairy economy.

And then as juicy and laxative feed as possible should be furnished in due measure. It is especially essential that the hocks be kept open. This would argue that we should watch the droppings behind the cow to see if they be hard and packed or soft and easily voided. These things all call for the expenditure of some time, but it is time well expended.

Only Good Cream Makes Good Butter.

The buttermaker at the creamery is usually thought of as the man responsible for the quality of the butter produced. The facts are, however, that the responsibility lies with the producer of the cream. The making of a careful creamery patron out of the average farmer is one of the big questions that confronts the creamery man. The price at which butter sells depends upon its quality, and this quality depends almost entirely upon the cleanliness and quality of the cream when it reaches the buttermaker. The most skillful buttermaker cannot make good butter out of poor cream.

Cow Testing Associations.

Wisconsin now boasts of having more cow testing associations than any other state in the Union. She has forty-five associations that have a total membership of over 1,200 dairymen and 25,000 cows. The highest average production for any association is held by Sheboygan county, with 8,279 pounds milk and 288 pounds fat per cow.—Hoard's Dairman.

LIVE STOCK HUSBANDRY

UTILIZING FARM WASTE.

More Live Stock Would Be Fed and the Soil Thereby Enriched.

(Prepared by United States department of agriculture.)

The grain farmer in the corn belt should keep more live stock than is customary at the present time, says a new bulletin of the United States department of agriculture, written by Carl Vrooman, the assistant secretary, in order to suggest ways in which the farmer can turn to practical advantage more of the scientific information accumulated by the department and the state agricultural colleges. It is a well established fact, says this bulletin, that where live stock is kept and the manure returned to the land the crops covering a series of years show a decided increase.

The problem of keeping live stock with profit therefore becomes largely a matter of making use of stuff that is wasted on the average farm. Most of the growth of live stock must be made on roughage and cheap pasture, and the grain fed must be reduced to the lowest possible point. Cornstalks, when possible, must be fed as silage or as fodder, and straw must be saved and fed or used as bedding and fertilizer instead of being allowed to rot in the stack. In addition valuable pasture can be secured from clover, fall sown rye, rape or soy beans sown in the corn or on stubble land. By utilizing forage crops and pastures in this way in the warmer months and feeding silage and straw in winter a smaller amount of grain will be needed, and what is fed will be far more efficient in the ration.

One method of producing a great amount of extra feed with very little labor is to sow dwarf Essex rape in corn before the last cultivation. The rape can be sowed broadcast very quickly, and once it has been grown the hogs will do the rest. On one Iowa farm 500 worth of rape seed were sown in this way on sixty acres of corn and on forty acres of stubble. After the corn had been husked 100 head of yearling steers were turned into the 100 acres and kept for seventy days. In addition to the cornstalks and rape in the field they received a daily ration of eight pounds of corn, two pounds of cottonseed meal and between three and four pounds of oat straw. Deducting the cost of the corn and meal, there was a profit of $800 from the operation. In addition a large amount of feed was supplied to the hogs that followed the cattle. Unless other feeds are added to the waste, however, the common custom of turning cattle in to clean up corn stalks is unprofitable. By themselves the corn stalks go to keep the cattle alive, they do not make beef.

If all the waste on the farm is to be utilized in some such way as this good fencing is necessary. It costs about $300 to make the fences on a 100 acre farm "hog and sheep tight," but this money will prove a profitable investment. With good management fencing can be made to pay for itself in a little time. On the Iowa farm already mentioned all the fences were hog tight.

Another means of reducing the cost of producing live stock is to lessen the amount of labor required. For example, a great deal of work can be saved by feeding once a day. It has been demonstrated that there is little or no difference in the results when this is done and when the same amount of feed is divided into two portions. In Iowa it has been demonstrated also that hogs will gain faster and at less expense by the use of the self feeder than when hand fed.

Sheep and Waste Grain.

Sheep can utilize screenings and waste grain better than can any other class of live stock, says the Kansas Farmer. This is a point in sheep feeding that has been largely overlooked. In a number of states extensive sheep feeding operations have been developed in connection with the handling of screenings at large mills and elevators. Much of this waste material could be kept on the farms to advantage and fed to small flocks of sheep. It would save in hauling, and the grain sold would be of higher grade and therefore bring a better price. There is no field of live stock industry at the present time that offers better opportunities for good profit than the handling of sheep.

Great Business Losses Due to Neglect

W. WITHERS MILLER

President of the Polk-Miller Drug Company, Richmond, Va., is authority for the following extraordinary statement:

"I estimate that the business men of this country could increase their efficiency fully ten per cent by taking an occasional laxative and not neglecting the bowels as most of them do."

He also said that if the Department of Commerce in Washington would present each business man in the country with a box of Rexall Orderlies, it would be of great benefit to the national welfare. Rexall Orderlies are prompt in action, pleasant to take and never gripe, can be used by men, women or children, and are just the thing for toning up sluggish livers.
